The first business before the Council was the further consideration of the report of the Busises Committee in response to the memorial bediet federation, and Dr. Stephenson in behalf of the committee, made an explanation of the purpose in reporting the resolu ions and expressed the hope that they would ass. Dr. Leonard of New York insisted ready accorded the floor to Dr. King. Immediately there followed a scene of great confusion, the Chair refusing to recognize Dr. Leonard and the latter shouting out repeatedly, "Mr. Chairman! Mr. Chairman! I rise to a point of order."

Nothing could be done in the way of transact ing business. Dr. Travis, an Englishman dout that if a delegate persisted in disregarding the Chair's order he should be susided, and an Irish delegate attempted to move Dr. Leonard's suspension. The Chairman explained that he had no wish to rebuke

"Mr. Chairman i Mr. Chairman i"

The Chair besought Dr. Leonard to read the whole of the rule for the guidance of the Conference in such cases and he would see his error. As the Doctor still persisted in claiming the floor the disorder swelled, and the British delegatos indignantly protested against the interruption of the proceedings. Finally Dr. Hugh Price Hughes of England, managing to make his clear voice heard, in a scandalized manner exclaimed that, having regard for the credit of a great assembly like this on which the eyes of the whole world were resting. Dr. Leonard should bring himself to obey the Chair. If he had anything to say upon the subject he would have the opportunity later on. "I beg Dr. Leonard not to bring the whole assembly into contempt." he shouled.

These appeals had the desired effect. Dr. Isonard apandoned his effort to make his point of order and Dr. King, the Secretary, was recognized. His object it appeared, was postpone the further discussion of the subject of federation until to-morrow morning. Dr. King's motion to adjourn the debate pre-wiled by a vote of yeas, 158; nays, 148. The general topic of discussion at the morning session of the Conference, under the regulat. Order was Romanism. The essay, which was read by the Rev. M. T. Myers, President of the United Methodist Free Church, Rochdale, Eng., was upon the special subject of the president.

wa read by the Rev. M. T. Myers, President of the United Methodist Free Church, Rochdale, fax, was upon the special subject of the present position of Romanism. In it he said:

"It is the boast of the Church of Rome that the never changes and is infallible in all her experiences and idoings. Though there are periods in her history when she has not hesitated betwite accessing doings. Though there are periods in her history when she has not hesitated to deviate from the trodden path of former generations, in two important aspects she has slown astonishing tenacity.

"Its—The Church of Rome has maintained a uniform opposition to the free circulation of the Roly Beriptures. This is one of the chief points of difference from Protestant Christian-it, and is at once her dread and her danger.

Second—The second is her settled purpose and her unscrupulous methods of propagating and promoting her own interests. One heart beating within the Vatican circulates one seal around all that monstrous body, which returns again to feed the fountain of its permicus life. No wonder she is so strong, and is apparently so successful, when her propaganda are so united and energetic.

"The present occupant of the chair of St. Peter is a man every way worthy of the position, but, discontented, he lives to regain the temporal power lost more than twenty years are. Eu. if we are not mistaken, there is no need to fear any attempt on the part of somanism to usury the temporal power either h Great Britain or America. The tendency of agrisation among all English-speaking nations is against the domination in the State of any religious sect, and Gen. Booth, in yearty years, has more real followers and adsarents of the Anglo-Baxon race than Homanism after hundreds of years with all her boastel wealth and sodal prestige. The next speaker was the Rev. Dr. H. L. Fiske of Albion, Mich., his special subject being. Bomanism as a Political Power." He said:
"The efficiency of the Catholic Church as a political power grows out of two facts. First, homanism, by the donial of the right of private judgment, by suppression of free thought, toes not leave conscience in the keeping of the jut organically holds it in her own grasp, the second, this efficiency grows out of the axtra-erdiaxty centralization of power in the tom-poral head of the Church.

At the afternoon session the general topic was imperance. The Rev. Dr. R. H. Mahon of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, Memblis, read a paper upon "The Church and the lemperance Reform." He said the Church should assume no political attitude with respect to prohibition. The Church in its official or organic capacity has nothing to do with political.

Dr. Stephenson and other Wesleyans were beseeching Dr. Atkinson to withdraw his remark and apologize, but he bluntly refused to do so, asserting that he had nothing to apologize for; that if the delegates would not consume his time he would explain. As they persisted in their demand for retraction, he characterised their "stupidity" in foreible terms and, seeing no chance of restoring harmony, the presiding officer, who had exhausted every effort to caim the troubled waters, declared the session adjourned, and the delegates passed out of the church after singing the Doxology.

REVOLT AGAINST UNION SEMINARY.

The Washington Presbytery Like That th

General Assembly Sever All Relations. Several Presbyteries through the country have already fired shots at Union Theological Seminary by forbidding their ministerial candidates to attend it, but the influential Presbytery of Washington has taken even more radical action. At its meeting this month this overture to the General Assemby was made, proposing that the seminary be cut off entirely by the Assembly. The action was in these words:

"Whereas, The Union Theological Seminary in the city of New York, when it was an independent institution, memorialized the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United Hates of America to be pleased to adopt it as a rule and plan in the exercise of the proprietorship and control over the several theological seminaries; that the Board of Directors of each seminary should be authorized to appoint all professors for the same, and that no such appointment should be considered as a complete election if disapproved by a majority vote of the Assembly; and

"Whereas The said seminary, in its memorial, agreed that if the said plan should be adopted by the Assembly, the seminary would conform to the same; and the Assembly did adopt the plan whereby there was formed between the two bodies a compact, the effect of which was to bring the seminary into ecclesiastical connection with the General Assembly; and

"Whereas, After that seminary had for slastical connection with the General Assembly; and

Whereas. After that seminary had for twenty years enjoyed the benefit of said compact and said connection, its Board of Directors, on the first occasion of a disapproval by the Assembly of its appointment of a professor, repudiated the compact which the seminary itself had proposed to the Assembly, and refused to submit to the control which itself had offered to and vested in that body;

"Therefore, the Presbytery of Washington city overtures the General Assembly to make a formal declaration of the entire severance of all relations between it and said seminary."

DOUGLASS WAS IN POLITICS THEN. And He Never Counted on Having to Pay That $4,000 to McCarty.

The suit of Patrick H. Flynn to eject John street. Greenpoint, attracted a number of wellknown Democratic politicians to the City Court in Brooklyn resterday. Mr. Douglass was Democratic Assemblyman for several years, but he lost his pull some time ago, and lately has taken no part in political management. Mr. Flynn's statement on the witness stand was to the effect that he had purchased the Guernsey street house from ex-Alderman John McCarty, but he could not remember how he Guernsey street house from ex-Alderman John McCarty, but he could not remember how he had paid for it, whether by check or cash. He admitted that he had never been in the house in his life, and was not aware that Mr. Douglass was the occupant until after the purchase.

Lawyer Barrett, who appeared for the defendant, intimated in his opening speech that Flynn was merely a "dummy," and that ex-Alderman McCarty did not wish to bring the suit in his own name. His client, he said, had borrowed $4,000 from the ex-Alderman and had given him the deed of the house as socurity. Mr. Douglass, however, never regarded the transaction in the light of a saie. He had never given McCarty any title to the property. Mr. Douglass testified that he gave the deed originally to a Mr. Moore as a guarantee for a loan, and had then asked McCarty to take it up for him, and McCarty did so, but got no title. He could not say whether he had ever paid any taxes on the property, or how much was due at present. He had seen McCarty frequently after the transaction, but he denied that McCarty had ever asked for the mouey. "In rever," said Mr. Douglass, "expected to have to pay a cent of the $4.000 to McCarty."

The Court ordered this to be stricken out. The witness said that he was "in politics" when the transaction between him and McCarty took place. He had rendered some services to McCarty, which he considered fully worth $4,000. Just what these services were he was not allowed to explain.

Ex-Alderman MCCarty testified that the saje

FALSE STORY OF ROBBERY.

Station Agent Southwick Concocted It to

RONDOUT, Oct. 15 .- On Thursday morning ast Station Agent Southwick of the Tannersville station of the Kaaterskill Railroad reported that on the previous evening, while on his way home, he was waylaid by a highwayknocked down, and while trying to defend himself a part of one of his fingers was shot away. To prove his assertion Southwick exhibited his clothing covered with mud and the wounded finger. Southwick stated his suspicions of who finger. Southwick stated his suspicions of who the highwayman was and the suspected man was found to indicate that he had knowledge of the assault he was released.

The railroad company that lost $300 and the American Express Company that lost $300 and the American Express Company that lost the $50 had a different idea of who the alleged thef was, and they did a little investigating thomselves. The result was that the assault was put down as a cleverly concocted tale of the station agent, and he was arrested. Since his arrest the residents have also done some investigating. Among other things brought to light was a revolver that was found near the seene of the alleged assault and robbery and which has been identified by a merchant at Tannersville as one he sold to Southwick the night before. It has also been ascertained that the finger which Southwick so proudly exhibited was cut off with a knife.

Southwick is about 30 years of age and a married man. He has been in the employ of the company for about four years. The impression is, the money has been stolen at different times, and that Southwick, knowing that he would be compally hit upon the plan of being robbed by some imaginary highwayman.

To Contest Her Father's Will.

BOSTON, Oct. 15 .-- Mrs. Anna S. Rowe, daughter of the late Edward A. White, will contest the will of her father, which distributes some $350,000, but cuts her off with some articles of ersonal property. By testimony in the Propersonal property. By testimony in the Probate Court to-day it was shown that Mrs. Rowe's hushend was an object of dislike to the testator. The will gives the income of nearly the whole of the estate to his widow in second wife) for life, directs that $75,000 be held for the children of Mrs. Rowe in trust for five years, gives $20,000 to Edward O'Brien, a former clerk, and $70,000 for charities in the city of Boston. To the husband of his daughter, Mrs. Rowe, is bequeathed an umbrella. Mr. White was a Fire Commissioner of Boston.

The New York and New Jersey Bridge Company of New York and the New York and New Jersey Bridge Company of New Jersey met at 214 Broadway yesterday and consolidated their property, corporate powers, and fran-chises. The companies agreed with each other, in order to raise the money necessary. to issue their stocks and bonds for value su stantially as follows: The total stock issue of and to issue coupon bonds secured by a first mortgage covering all the property, franchises, rights, and privileges. The total amount of bonds to be issued by the two corporations is $60,000,000. They are to be fifty-year bonds, with prodate, at the option of the bridge companies, on call,and payment of principal and interest due together with ten per cent. premium on the principal, the bonds to bear interest at the principal, the bonds to bear interest at the rate of five per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually in gold in New York and London. The bonds also provide that each company shall be liable for the payment of the principal and interest due on the bonds and coupons. The proceeds of the bonds are to be used only for the acquirement of property necessary for the squirement of property necessary for the building and maintenance of the bridge. The plan provides for the creation of a sinking fund for the redemption of the bonds after twenty years, and also provides for a Board of Managers to be selected out of the directors of the two companies. Secretary Swan said:

"The plan for the bridge approaches and stations will be next considered. The whole structure will be such as will enable all the railroads having their terminal at Jersey City and Hoboken to land their passengers within the heart of the city of New York without change of cars. Freight can proceed upon unbroken wheel transit to any part of the country, and if the postal authorities contemplate having an office in the central part of the city, I see no reason why the building should not be such as will allow the mail cars to be shunted, loaded, and unloaded under the new Post Office."

EVA MANN DOESN'T BELIEVE IT.

She Piaces No Reliance in the Verification ALBANY, Oct. 15 .- Eva Mann, or Mrs. Eva Hamilton as she prefers to be called, who is here with the City Club Vandeville and Burlesque Company, which is performing at the Galety Theatre, was to-day asked to read THE Sur article verifying the report of Robert Ray Hamilton's death. After reading it she ex-"It seems as if this trouble will last forever." When asked if she still doubted the death of Hamilton, she said emphatically:

"I have always doubted it. I did not believe the former stories and I do not believe this one. I am quite confident that Mr. Hamilton is alive. Is it not proof enough that it is not Ray's body that they make no endeavor to have it brought here to rest with the others of his iamily? Is it not proof, I say, when they let him lie there buried like a dog? They say they cannot bring the body on without my consent, yet they have never asked my con-consent yet they have never asked my consent."

"You don't then, believe in this inquest?"

"No. Why should I, or why should any thinking person believe in it? Why did his family wait a whole year before they had this inquest made? Is it likely that at this time a decomposed body can be recognized? Not at all. If his family had wanted to prove his death they should have had the body disintered and examined right away. There was no sense in this waiting a year, unless it was in the hope that decomposition would destroy all evidence that would lead to identification."

"What about the marks, such as the filled teeth?"

"They are nonsensical and untrue. Mr. Hamilton had very sound teeth. Not one was filled or decayed and not one removed. He never had a bit of trouble with them, and there were no gold or silver fillings in his mouth."

In conclusion Eva declared her belief that Ray was still alive and that she would yet see him.

In 1809 he came to this city. where he obtained employment with the Gold Stock Telegraph Company. Fitteen months ago Mr. Heinrichs occupied an office at 43 Centre street. He was engaged for a time with Gustav L. Jueger in perfecting an electrical plant. Three months ago he sold the contents of his office and went to Chicago to interest capitalists there in his inventions. Mr. Heinrichs was a bachelor. The letter which he left addressed to F. C. Brandis of 55 Fulton street had not been received by Mr. Brandis up to a late hour yesterday afternoon.

THE CITY OF ROME HOAX. A Cruel Lie Set Afont by an Irresponsible

Cattle Teader ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Oct. 15.-A despatch to the Colonist from Magistrate Carry at Trepassey says that there is no truth in the report that the steamer City of Rome was lost off St.

Shotts. The story is a hoax perpetrated by a half-witted cattle tender of the steamer Mondego, which was lost at Marine Cove on Bept. 15.
The operator at Trepassy says Constable Sutton arrived this evening from Peters River, and says the people there know nothing about the wreck reported by John Brennan, and Landregan, the man by whom Brennan claims to have been resound, denies that part of the story, and says he never even saw Brennan. As to Brennan a being a cowboy from the Mondego wrock, Magistrate Carey did not see the feilow, and even this story is doubted.

No one knows where Brennan came from, but it is quite certain he did not come from Peters River and that the reported wreck is a hoax. half-witted cattle tender of the steamer Mon

The marine experts decided yesterday that the only wreck seen in the neighborhood of St. Shotts, Newfoundland, on Tuesday, was James Brennan, the sailor man from Sligo, whose muddled fancy gave birth to the story that the Anchor line steamship City of Rome had been lost. The agents of the Anchor line do not think much of Brennan's humor.

The Negro Who Came to Life in the Morgue Beverly Brown, the colored waiter who was aken in the dead wagon on Wednesday from the Hudson county jail to the Jersey City Morgue after he had been pronounced dead. was walking around in the City Hospital yesterday. He is doing well, but has not reterday. He is doing well, but has not re-covered his power of speech. The doctors at the hospital say he is suffering from epilepsy, and that he may not be able to speak for two or three days. His condition is greatly im-proved, and his narrow escape has given him such a scare that he cheerfully takes whatever is prescribed for him. When he was at the jall he stubbornly refused to take any medicine, and would take but very little food.

The departure of Lawyer Mirabeau L. of Brooklyn for Europe on Sept. 29. it was learned yesterday, was for the purpose of apprehending Joseph J. Ashforth, the defaulting treasurer of the Boral Arcanum Building Association, who absconded in May last. Extradition papers were obtained soon after Ashforth's disappearance. It is expected that his capture will soon be announced. He was over $10,000 short in his accounts.

FINERIES FOR FIFTH AVENUE FOUND WRAPPED IN WORN CLOTHES IN

MRS. MINNICK'S TRUNKS. ome of Them Said to be Cootlier than the Seized Aster Gowns—Most of Them were for Mme, Connelly, Surveyor Lyon Says, It was announced at the Custom House yesterday that the twenty-six Paris gowns and wraps seized on La Bretagne on Monday had and a small steamer trunk belonging to Mrs. W. Minnick. Surveyor Lyon has found that Mrs. Minnick was in the employ of Mary A. Connelly, a Fifth avenue dressmaker. Surveyor Lyon says that most of the gowns were for Mms. Connelly. For whom the others are he does not say. Mrs. Minnick was formerly employed by Mms. Donovan.

The seized clothes are valued at about $10,-000 by the appraisers, who say that they are even more expensive than the famous Astor dresses recently sold at auction. The gowns, which are made up in different sizes apparently on special orders, are all the work of Worth or Pelix. There are seven ladies' Worth or Pelix. There are seven ladies' coats and opera cloaks, each valued at from $300 to $400; one green velvet cape, nine wraps, one black satin wrapper, a silk crêpe shawl, and several beautifully embroidered silk night robes.

The finery had been very adroitly packed. Each garment had been squeezed into a very small space in the trunks, and each was hidden away under a worn house wrapper or an old skirt. A casual glance through the trunk would have revealed nothing more than the ordinary wearing apparel of a woman in moderate circumstances.

Mme. Connelly is the wife of John E. Fitzgersid of Beston. Twelve years ago she married Daniel R. Lyddy of this city, but she got a divorce from him soon after.

ried Daniel R. Lyddy of this city, but she got a divorce from him soon after.

A fight will probably be made in the courts to recover the seized goods. It doesn't appear yet who the persons are for whom the gowns and wraps were intended, but it is inferred from the costliness of the goods that they may have been meant to adorn some of the Four Bundred. If legal proceedings are brought it will appear whether the owners are dressmakers or customers of the dressmakers.

THE OHIO CAMPAIGN.

The Probable Result in Nevember-" Looking Backward." COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 15.-Ohio is a queer State

n many ways, but in none so much as politically. In 1862 it went 5,000 Democratic. while the next year 1863, the Republicans electedBrough Governor by 101,000 majority In the past thirty years Ohio has gone Domo cratic seven times, or once in every four years and a fraction. Here are the figures: 1862. William Armstrong, Socretary of State 5.560

1873. William Allen, Governor 5.560
1873. William Bell, Secretary of State 17.202
1877. R. M. Bisbop, Governor 22.520
1877. R. M. Bisbop, Governor 12.520
1882. James Newman, Secretary of State 11.13
1883. George Hoadly, Governor 12.528
1883. James E. Campbell, Governor 10.872

During these thirty years the Republicans have not failed to carry the State at every Presidential election, their pluralities in other years being from 2.983 in 1867, when beat Thurman for Governor, to 1863, their highest plurality, 101,000.

Last year, when the State went 10,000 Republican, there were 742,186 votes polled, a publican, there were 742.183 votes polled, a loss of 99,000 over 1883. At the last Governor's election, in 1883, the total vote in Ohio was 775.721, and it is fair to presume that the vote will reach 800,000 this year.

There are four tickets in the field, viz.: Republican, Democratic, Prohibition, and People's. The last two will not out much of a figure. John Seitz, the People's candidate for Governor, claims that he will receive 200,000 votes in the State, but one-fourth of that will be much nearer the number. Seitz and his friends, however, are predicting that they will surely hold the balance of power in the Legislature and will retire John Sherman as Senator.

Attacking the Newtown Creek Smells. The long-continued complaints against the had smells pervading the neighborhood of Newtown Creek have at last convinced the Health Department of Brooklyn that some action is necessary. Careful investigation has located the trouble at Peter Cooper's glue factory. Diebig & Zweig's egg oil distillery, and Louis Fries & Son's and Joseph Rosenburg's fertilizer factories. Yesterday these four firms fertilizer factories. Yesterday these four firms were served with orders from the Health Department to discontinue their offensive methods of doing business within three days. All permits to cart stuff through Brooklyn streets to the factories have been revoked, and the firms will have to obtain their material through Long Island City or close up their places. The factories complained of are on the Maspeth bank of Newtown Creek. The owners deny the jurisdiction of the Brooklyn health authorities and will fight the matter in the courts. Maspeth is in Queens county.

Br. Terbune Resigns Ula Pastorate The Rev. Dr. F. P. Terhune has finally resigned as paster of the First Reformed Church in Bedford avenue. Williamsburgh. and his resignation will be considered at the Classis to be held next Tuesday at Astoria. Dr. Terhune has been pastor of the church for the past seven years. His wife, Marion Harland, past seven years. His wife, Marion Harland, the writer, has not attended the church and has taken little interest in the parochial work. The church has not made rapid progress, although it is out of debt and financially flourishing. Dr. Terhune desired to resign a year ago to engage in literary work, but continued to serve as paster at the request of a majority of the congregation. The Classis will undoubtedly accept his resignation. The consistory is seeking a successor to Dr. Terhune.

Lothrop-Bacon.

BOSTON, Oct. 15 .- Mr. William Sturgis Hoope Lothrop, son of Thornton K. Lothrop of this city, and Miss Alice Bacon, daughter of Mr. V. E. Bacon of Beacon street, were married in escorted by her father and her six brides escoted by her father and her six bridesmaids, Miss Lothrop, Miss Amy Lothrop, Miss Susie Bacon, Miss Elizabeth Flak, Miss Margaret Whitney, and Miss Mary Oliver. The bride was robed in heavy white sath, mide severely plain, and with the usual long train and veil. She wore no gloves, and carried a bunch of white bride roses and an ivory-bound prayer book. The Rev. Dr. Andrew P. Pesbody of Harvard performed the Episcopal service. The groom's best man was his brother. Thornton
E. Lothrop, Jr. WEDDED IN GRACE CHURCH.

Miss Allee Bayard King Married to Mr Herman Leroy Edgar. The marriage of Miss Alice Bayard King. laughter of Mr. Edward King, to Mr. Herman Leroy Edgar was solemnized at 2% o'clock King was the first bride to pass through the new porch which has lately been put into the church in memory of the late Rebecca Mason ones. The occasion summoned together many representatives of the old Knickerbocker families. The floral decorations in the chancel were of the most unostentations character, while those at the home of the bride's father. 7 University place, where the young couple received the congratulations of their friends, were confined mostly to autumn flowers and greens.

The ushers who received the guests at the church were: Mr. William Travers Gray, Mr. Charles B. Perkins, Mr. Baucel La Farge, Mr. Alpheus S. Hardy, Mr. Francis C. Huntington. Mr. William Edgar, brother of the groom, and the bride's two brothers, Mr. James Gore and Mr. Bupert C. King. They were in morning dress, wore boutonnières of jacqueminot roses, and in their white silk cravats displayed the bridegroom's gift-a pin of a single ruby surrounded with pearls.

Miss King arrived at the church accompabeth Gracie King, who attended her as maid of honor. There were no bridesmaids. Miss King wore a wedding gown of white sicilienne, made with a distinctly princess effect. The edges of the very long train were trimmed with white lace, and point applique was used to embellish the corsage, which was made high with long sleeves. The short veil was of point applique, and was caught up on the left side with a crescent of diamonds, besides a small coronet of orange biossoms and several small diamond and pearl plas. At her throat Miss King wore a diamond and opal pin. The maid of honor wore a neat costume of white silk, which was veiled with polka dotted chiffon. An opera straw hat, trimmed with dark-green velvet and straw, fan-like trimmings, completed a tollet that was remarkably effective and simple. The bride was met at the chancel steps by the bridegroom and his best man, Mr. Thomas N. Rhinelander, his cousin. The Rev. Dr. William R. Huntington, the rector, performed the ceremony. with a distinctly princess effect. The edges of William R. Huntington, the rector, performed the ceremony.

The reception, at the home of Mr. King, was attended by near relatives and intimate friends. Mr. Herman Leroy Edgar, the bridegroom, is a son of the late Commodore William Edgar of the New York Yacht Club, and is a nephew of Mrs. Jerome N. Bonaparte.

Applegate-Havemeyer.

NEWBURGH, Oct. 15 .- The ceremony by which he Rev. Octavus Applerate, Jr., son of the Sector of St. George's Church, and Miss Ada Havemeyer, daughter of Augustus H. Havemeyer, were joined in wedlock took place at St. George's Church to-day. The Right Rev Henry C. Potter, Bishop of the diocese of New York conducted the service, assisted by the bridegroom's father. Part of the marriage service was private, and consisted of the cele bration of holy communion at 8 o'clock this morning. The wedding ceremony was per-formed at 12:30 P. M., and the ladies of the morning. The wedding ceremony was performed at 12:30 P. M., and the ladies of the Altar Society had beautifully decorated the interior of the church. The altar was banked with flowers—white roses, dabilias, chrysanthemums, and rare orchids. Spreading palms stood at either side of the chancel, flowers were piled beneath the windows, and the haptismal fout was hidden beneath a mass of bloom. The ushers were Dr. Edgar O. Mitchell, Mr. William Levering Devries of Baltimore, Mr. Albert C. Hamlin of New York, and Mr. Vanderpool of Hartford. As the bridal party entered the choir sung the processional hymn. "The voice that breathed o'er Eden." The bride was attired in white corded silk trimmed with point lace, and wore orange blossoms and jessamine. The best man was Ro-ert C. Applegate, brother of the groom, and the bridesmaids were Miss Maud Applegate and Miss Linda Straw of Newburgh, Miss Edwins Lee and Miss May Brown of New York, The maid of honor was Miss Fredericks Havemeyer, sister of the bride. After the ceremony a wedding feast was served at the home of Mr. Havemeyer, 189 Grand street. After a short wedding trip the couple will make their home at the rectory of St. John's Episcoual Church at Ellenville, to which charge young Mr. Applegate was appointed soon after his ordination last spring.

Woffst-Blake. The marriage of Miss M. Adelaide Blake. daughter of the late E. V. Blake of Brooklyn. to Mr. William L. Moffat, took place at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Grace Church, Grace court, Brooklyn Heights, The church was filled with the friends of the bride and groom, but at the reception which followed at the home of the bride's mother, at 222 Henry street, only the bridal party, relatives, and a few intimate friends were present, the bride's family being in mourning.

Miss Blake entered the church on the arm of her brother. Mr. Reginald S. Blake. She was attired in a gown of white corded silk draped with white chiffon and orange blossoms. The bridal veil of white silk tulle was confined to the head by a wreath of orange blossoms and lilies of the vailey. Miss Blake carried a houquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Mason, the maid of honer, wore a pretty gown of white bengaline, very simply made. She carried a loose bunch of Catharine Mermet roses. The four bridesmaids Miss Whitehouse, Miss Mason, the Miss Saively, and Miss Averrill wore effective gowns of rose-pink bengaline, trimmed with chiffon of the same shade. Each carried a bouquet of pink roses. street, only the bridal party, relatives, and a with childhold the same shade. Each earried a bouquet of pink roses.

Mr. Fraser Moffat attended his brother as best man. The lev. Chauncey B Brewster, the rector of the church, officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Moffat, when they return from their wedding trip, will reside on Brooklyn Heights.

Tarabull-Peck.

Norwich. Conn., Oct. 15.-Miss May Peck. sister of Mrs. William A. Slater of Norwich and Mr Charles Dale Turnbull of Boston were married at noon to-day at the home of th bride's mother, Mrs. E. L. Peck, in the presence of a large company of invited guests many of whom were from Boston and Nev York. The house was splendidly decked with paims, festoons of smilax, and flowers. The coremony was performed in the east room by the Rev. Dr. S. H. Howe of Park Church, and the couple stood in a bay window in a bower of floral decorations. Above their heads were loops of smilax caught in a lover's knot of white satin. The bride was attired in white satin trimmed with point lace, with a point lace veil, and she carried white rosebuds and lilles of the valley. There were no bridesmaids. After the wedding the quests were served with a breakfast prepared by a New York caterer. The counie left town this afternoon for a brief wedding trip, and they may go abroad with Mr. Slater and his family in his yacht this winter. Mr. Slater is the only son of the inte John F. Slater, the great cotton manufacturer, who was one of the wealthlest nen in New England, and who a few years ago gave $1.000.000 for the education of Southern freedmen. Mr. Slater's gift title couple was a check for $100.000, and Mrs. Slater gave them a furnished house in Bencon street, Boston. York. The house was splendidly decked with Miss Annie Flynn, the eldest daughter of Mr. Michael Flynn, was married to Mr. Edward 8. Doughty, Jr., at 7% o'clock last evening in St. Patrick's Cathedral. The Rev. Michael J Lavelle, the rector, performed the ceremony Miss Flynn wore a reception robe of pear gray cloth and silk, trimmed with steel, a small round hat to match, and carried a bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley. Miss Susie Flynn, a sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She appeared in a dress of bride roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Katle Hughes and Miss Mamie Flynn were attired in lawn-colored cloth, trimmed with passementeric, and large cloth hats with yellow ostrich plumes. Their bouquets were of La France roses. Mr. Phillip O'Keeffe was best man.

Pennell-Lamb.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 15 .- Arthur R. Pennell o Buffalo and Miss Carrie B. Lamb of this city were married to-day by the Rev. Dr. Twitchell at the Dwight Place Church. The groom is a graduate of Tale, 87, and Law School. 30, and a prominent young lawyer in Buffalo. "No baking powder is gaining public favor so rapidly as Cleveland's."

One reason is people like to know what they are eating, and the composition of Cleveland's baking powder is given on every label.

So many baking powders containing ammonia or alum are widely advertised as "absolutely pure," the best way is to refuse any brand the composition of
